

General Data Protection Regulation

All personal data processing will be subject to free, express, and informed consent of the owner. Personal data may be processed for the fulfillment of our services and electronic invoicing, for the selection and administration of people, for the attention of third-party professional services, for the sending of advertising and commercial prospecting, for statistical and historical purposes and profile analysis.

Only personal data will be transferred with the consent of its owner, except as required by public administration companies, judicial and police authorities, as long as it is established by law.

The necessary policies and procedures that guarantee the security of personal data have been defined, in order to avoid any alteration, loss and / or unauthorized treatment or access, ensuring its confidentiality, integrity, and availability.

About GDPR Rights:

All our online forms have the "check box" for the acceptance of personal data use and treatment.

If REF INTERNATIONAL sends communications via email, social networks, or other digital advertising, it will only be to users who accepted the GDPR clause (General Data Protection Regulation).

About the Use of Cookies

This website uses cookies, allowing us to remember browsing characteristics or preferences on our website. Thanks to this information, we can personalize the access to the site on future visits, make browsing safer, and know your preferences to offer you information of interest.